AMERICARES VISION

is to help many more people live longer, healthier lives.

AMERICARES PURPOSE

In times of epic disaster, daily struggle or civil conflict, AmeriCares restores health and saves lives by delivering medicines, medical supplies and humanitarian aid to people in need around the world and across the United States.

Letter from the Founder

Dear Friends,

As you consider this report, please realize that it is your interest and compassion that enable AmeriCares to continue its mission. Many more people are able to reap the benefits and live longer, healthier lives. AmeriCares has accomplished another year of true humanitarian service for which you and I can be justifiably well pleased and grateful.

Being on the sidelines now due to health, I'm rewarded with a 360° view of the widening outreach to those who are suffering — skillfully balancing the appropriate level of help at the most critical time in the neediest locations with what will be most urgently needed in the future.

From photos and maps within this report, you will sense the gravity of our work through our programs; emergency response, global health initiatives, medical outreach, domestic medical assistance and AmeriCares Free Clinics. In each area, more effective and efficient successes have been achieved through our multiple networks with reliable health care partners. This has been a great strength in our ability to meet ongoing demands for medical relief and respond at a moment's notice to catastrophe, as we have seen in Haiti.

AmeriCares has succeeded in fulfilling its commitments to those in severe need through careful downsizing and extreme acceleration of effort during the harsh financial reality of last year. Enabling AmeriCares to have an expedient way to express and deliver your sympathetic care and concern could not be more important. Thank you.

In gratitude,

Bob Macauley
Founder and Chairman

Letter from the President

Dear Friends,

COMPASSION AND COMMITMENT — compassion for the millions of people who live in extreme poverty with little or no access to basic health care and medicines, and our commitment to help as many people as we can. These values guide AmeriCares each and every day as we work to help many more people live longer, healthier lives. The needs are overwhelming, yet do not deter us. Whether responding to a large scale emergency like the Haiti earthquake or delivering medicines to hospitals and clinics in resource poor countries, we know we are saving lives and restoring hope to millions of people.

The pages and photos that follow tell some of the stories of our work this year. While it is impossible to adequately convey the magnitude of our work in words, I hope this report provides a sense of the lives we have touched. I can tell you from my visits to Haiti, India and other places we work that we are making a profound difference. Of course we know we do not and cannot do it alone. Our donors and our partners around the world help make our work possible.

This past year, AmeriCares provided program services and relief aid valued at more than $850 million to 97 countries. More than 90% of this assistance went to ongoing programs; the remainder helped us respond to disasters in 23 countries, from Haiti and Chile to emergencies that received less of the world's attention, and support our Medical Outreach and AmeriCares Free Clinics programs. Here at home, we continued to expand our reach across the United States, delivering medicines and medical supplies to over 200 health clinics serving the uninsured and underinsured and providing free prescription medications for over 100,000 people.

The AmeriCares team is committed to delivering the aid that is needed, when and where it is needed. I am deeply grateful for what your support has allowed us to accomplish this year.

Sincerely,

Curtis R. Welling

Anatomy Of An Airlift: Haiti Earthquake

EMERGENCY

RESPONSE & POST-EMERGENCY PROGRAMS

DISASTERS HELP FOCUS THE WORLD'S ATTENTION ON THE URGENT need for assistance and 2010 was no exception. From the catastrophic earthquakes that decimated Haiti's capital city of Port-au-Prince and Chile's central coastline to less publicized emergencies, AmeriCares delivered lifesaving medical aid. In times of crisis, lives are in the balance and a timely response can mean the difference between life and death. This year AmeriCares responded to disasters in 23 countries saving lives and restoring hope to hundreds of thousands of people.

But our work does not stop once the emergency has faded. AmeriCares helps rebuild and restore communities so they can begin the healing process. Often this means rehabilitating clinics and hospitals and providing a reliable supply of medicines and medical supplies.

Equally important is helping communities prepare for emergencies before they happen. In India and El Salvador this past year, we provided disaster preparedness training and educational programs for health care providers and emergency responders to better prepare them for the next disaster.

HAITI

Within 48 hours of the 7.0-magnitude earthquake that struck Port-au-Prince on January 12, 2010, an AmeriCares emergency response team was on the ground assessing health care needs. Three days later, our first airlift landed carrying more than $6.7 million in medicines and medical supplies. The AmeriCares team immediately began putting this lifesaving aid into the hands of the doctors and nurses working to treat survivors. We did not let up as we distributed more than $30 million in medical assistance to over 60 health care providers in and around Port-au-Prince in the six months following the earthquake.

"After 48 hours there were no more medicines. No more pain killers. No more antibiotics. We had to amputate with local anesthesia. When AmeriCares arrived at the hospital, they were carrying exactly what we needed. Their deliveries of medicines and medical supplies were critical to providing lifesaving care to people in desperate need."

Dr. Richard Salnave
Head Surgeon at Canapé Vert
Hospital in Port-au-Prince, Haiti

With Haiti still in a very fragile state, our work is far from over. AmeriCares has established an office in Port-au-Prince from which we are continuing to deliver medical assistance and helping to rebuild the country's health care system. We are also developing programs to address the needs of the most vulnerable populations, such as co-founding a program for adolescent girls to empower and protect them by establishing safe spaces throughout the country. In the months and years ahead, we will focus on providing aid for maternal and child health, rehabilitating hospitals and health clinics, increasing access to health care and medical treatments, and establishing training and education programs for health care workers.

CHILE

When an 8.8-magnitude earthquake struck Chile on February 27, 2010, damage along the central coastline was extensive. In response, AmeriCares immediately mobilized an emergency airlift of medical assistance and personal hygiene items for survivors and those left homeless. Our relief efforts also included building and equipping a 50-bed transitional field hospital for maternal and child health services at the site of Angol Hospital, one of 23 hospitals destroyed in the disaster. AmeriCares received donated medical products, including an ultrasound from GE, and the GE Foundation assisted in the purchase of the field hospital. In addition, MetLife and the MetLife Foundation provided funding for the purchase of medicines. Together, we are ensuring the people of Angol, Chile continue to receive quality medical care while their community hospital is rebuilt.

RESPONDING AROUND THE WORLD

In addition to Haiti and Chile, AmeriCares responded to emergencies in 21 other countries during the year. When a natural disaster strikes or civil unrest breaks out, AmeriCares response often reverberates across many borders. When Tropical Storm Agatha landed in Latin America, our relief reached impacted communities in El Salvador, Guatemala and Honduras. And when civil unrest in Kyrgyzstan displaced families from their homes in that country, AmeriCares also delivered humanitarian assistance to people seeking safety in neighboring Tajikistan and Uzbekistan. While many of these crises did not receive much publicity, hundreds of thousands of people were impacted and required assistance. They included earthquake survivors in China and Indonesia; flooded communities in Burkina Faso and Senegal; and refugee populations in Chad and Pakistan.

AmeriCares ability to respond quickly when an emergency strikes is critical to saving lives. Our relationships with leading transportation carriers help us deliver emergency assistance immediately. TACA Airlines, Delta Air Lines, UPS and Boeing all donated cargo space saving us time and money that we could use to provide even more lifesaving aid. TACA Airlines also provided frequent flier miles for our emergency response teams traveling to Latin America.

POST-EMERGENCY PROGRAMMING

AmeriCares experience in helping communities rebuild after a disaster includes the 2004 Southeast Asia tsunami and Hurricane Katrina in 2005. As we approach the sixth anniversary of the tsunami, AmeriCares long-term commitment continues. This year we celebrated the opening of the Elpitiya Hospital in Sri Lanka which was greatly impacted by the influx of patients at the time of the tsunami. We also began reconstruction on the Trincomalee Hospital on the east coast of Sri Lanka. It was only after the resolution of the country’s civil war that we could begin this important project.

While our post-emergency work in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina is now complete, the relationships and partners we developed there enabled us to quickly respond to the Gulf Coast oil spill this year.

GLOBAL

MEDICAL ASSISTANCE

WITH MORE THAN 2 BILLION PEOPLE LIVING WITHOUT ADEQUATE access to health care and medicines, AmeriCares ongoing delivery of medical assistance around the world is central to our mission. In 2010, our Global Medical Assistance Program delivered lifesaving aid valued at more than $505 million to 62 countries. Our deliveries of medicines and medical supplies reached 2,578 clinics, hospitals and community health organizations, where we distributed antibiotics, pain relievers, analgesics, nutritional supplements, and other aid used to treat their patients. In many cases, without our donations, their pharmacies would be bare, leaving hundreds of thousands of people without healing medicines.

Our gift-in-kind partners, including pharmaceutical companies and medical supply manufacturers, donate their products so we can deliver and distribute to a network of health care partners around the world. Their donations serve as a lifeline for millions of people each year. Together we give men, women and children hope for a healthier future.

AMERICARES INDIA

AmeriCares India continued to expand its reach within India and around the world. During 2010, AmeriCares India responded to urgent needs in 18 states throughout the country, including Bihar, Gujarat, Tamil Nadu, West Bengal and Maharashtra. The office also conducted disaster preparedness workshops in Mumbai and Kolkata; mobilized medical camps to treat people living in urban slums and remote tribal communities; and educated students on the importance of oral hygiene, disease prevention and tobacco cessation.

“AmeriCares has been an outstanding donor in providing medicines, including many to help fight life-threatening diseases. Our community cannot afford these costly medicines. Thank you AmeriCares for saving the lives of Tanzanians and improving the quality of life for our people.”

Total aid delivered by region in 2010

- Sub-Saharan Africa $154 million (31%)
- Central America & the Caribbean $131 million (26%)
- East Asia & the Pacific $47 million (9%)
- Eastern Europe $45 million (9%)
- Middle East & North Africa $41 million (8%)
- South America $37 million (7%)
- United States $24 million (5%)
- Central Asia $16 million (3%)
- South Asia $10 million (2%)

Our warehouse in Mumbai served as a vital hub for supporting global medical assistance and emergency response programs. With support from Indian and multi-national pharmaceutical companies, AmeriCares India delivered aid to our partners in Kenya, Malawi and Cambodia. AmeriCares India also helped respond to urgent needs following the Haiti earthquake by delivering medical aid donated from Dr. Reddy's, an Indian-based pharmaceutical company.

AMERICARES FAMILY CLINIC IN EL SALVADOR

Six years after the opening of the AmeriCares Family Clinic in El Salvador, the clinic continues to provide vital health care for a population that has few options. In 2010, the clinic treated 43,755 patients, an 84% increase since opening its doors in 2003. Now an integral health provider in the Santiago de María region, the clinic conducted over 30 health and educational programs throughout the community. With the support of a donation of Gardasil® from Merck and Co., Inc., the clinic also vaccinated young girls to protect them from diseases caused by human papillomavirus (HPV), including cervical cancer.

The AmeriCares Family Clinic responded to the health and nutritional needs after mudslides struck El Salvador and Tropical Storms Ida and Agatha devastated the community, and played an integral role in procuring relief supplies for our Haiti and Chile earthquake responses.

SPECIAL HEALTH CARE INITIATIVES

Many of our pharmaceutical donors partner with AmeriCares on health care initiatives that help restore health and save lives around the world. Some of the programs this year included:

- A breast cancer initiative with the Sihanouk Hospital Center of HOPE in Cambodia supported by AstraZeneca. The program, the only one of its kind in the country, was expanded this year to increase the number of patients receiving treatment, improve diagnostic and surgical capabilities and enhance public awareness of the disease.
- A peritoneal dialysis program supported by Covidien to help 160 patients with acute renal failure at Cambodia's Sihanouk Hospital Center of HOPE.
- A pediatric HIV/AIDS program in Romania for more than 300 children with donations provided by Abbott.
- Support for a neonatal intensive care program in Kosovo, including the supply of Survanta from Abbott, which helped 180 premature babies with respiratory distress syndrome.
- A partnership with BD on the donation of 25 million syringes to support the World Health Organization's H1N1 vaccine program.
- Health programs around the world focused on treating people with hemophilia. AmeriCares donations of Factor VIII reached 13 countries including Armenia, the Bahamas, Pakistan and Zimbabwe. This sophisticated, expensive medicine restores blood clotting and stops bleeding.
- Community outreach programs in Uzbekistan, including health trains which bring primary care services to remote areas. Uzbekistan Airways also provided free cargo space for monthly deliveries of medical assistance to a network of hospitals, clinics and social service organizations within the country.

MEDICAL
OUTREACH

AMERICARES MEDICAL OUTREACH PROGRAM SUPPLIES MEDICINES

and medical supplies to U.S.-based health care professionals who provide volunteer medical care and surgeries. In 2010, the program provided nearly $62 million worth of critical medicines to 1,061 teams traveling to 71 countries, including the U.S., and supported volunteer teams responding to the Haiti earthquake. The Medical Outreach Program equips the teams with antibiotics, analgesics, medicines to treat hypertension and diabetes, as well as topical ointments, vitamins and nutritional supplements, and supplies for dental and ophthalmology exams. For teams conducting surgeries, AmeriCares provides anesthesia, syringes and other surgical products.

In the first six months after the earthquake struck Haiti, AmeriCares supplied 190 medical teams working in Haiti treating survivors.

The Medical Outreach Program works with many partners, including Zimmer, Inc. which donates its products to teams traveling overseas, as well as to surgeons performing orthopedic procedures for patients in the U.S. unable to afford them.

“Your generous contributions have allowed us to provide care and were in many ways as vital as the physicians and nurses making the trip to Mexico.”

DOMESTIC

MEDICAL ASSISTANCE

IN 2010 AMERICARES WORKED WITH MORE THAN 200 CLINICS across the United States serving the uninsured and underinsured. Our Domestic Medical Assistance Program delivered nearly $24 million in medical aid to health care partners and provided more than $215 million in free prescription medications through our Patient Assistance Program. This free program provides maintenance medicines for people living with chronic conditions, such as diabetes and hypertension, which reached more than 100,000 patients this year.

We have undertaken a comprehensive needs assessment, reaching out to more than 400 clinics throughout the country to identify critical gaps. Our results confirm that the recession has hit America's most vulnerable communities hard. With demand for services on the rise and clinics struggling with limited resources, AmeriCares will continue to help fill critical gaps and provide access to more medicines for more people in the U.S.

More than five years after Hurricane Katrina damaged the Gulf Coast region, AmeriCares continues to deliver medicines and medical supplies to many of the health care organizations we worked with immediately after the disaster. When the Deepwater Horizon oil spill occurred in April 2010, we worked closely with Coastal Family Health Center in Biloxi, Mississippi and other partners to deliver medicines and supplies to families whose health conditions were impacted by the spill. We provided over $215,000 in aid to 11 clinics immediately after the spill and established plans to support mental health assessments and counseling for people in the impacted communities.

"Thank you AmeriCares for the outstanding support you have shown the Community Care Clinic. The medicines you have supplied have made a difference to our patients and the mission of our clinic."

AMERICARES

FREE CLINICS

AMERICARES FREE CLINICS PROVIDE OUTPATIENT MEDICAL SERVICES

for low-income, uninsured residents of Bridgeport, Danbury and Norwalk, Connecticut and the surrounding communities. In 2010, the three clinics provided $6.1 million in program services and aid, including primary and specialty care, medications, diagnostic and laboratory testing to over 3,800 patients during 9,748 patient visits.

For those without health insurance, specialty care is almost nonexistent. Our specialized services include pediatrics, cardiology, endocrinology, orthopedics, pulmonology and women's health. In 2010, we expanded to include ophthalmology in order to screen and treat diabetic and hypertensive patients at risk for conditions leading to blindness.

The economic downturn of 2009 highlighted the tremendous needs of the uninsured. Even when health care reform is fully implemented in 2019, it is estimated that 23 million people in the U.S. will remain without health insurance. AmeriCares Free Clinics will continue to promote critical services needed by patients unable to afford health care. We sit on the Board of Directors of the National Association of Free Clinics and provided medical supplies and volunteers for their one-day health clinics across the country.

Since the first clinic opened in 1994, AmeriCares Free Clinics have provided health care valued at over $32 million to 19,000 patients. We would not be able to treat our patients without a network of more than 300 volunteers and the support of both in-kind and financial donors, including Quest Diagnostics; Bridgeport, Danbury and Norwalk Hospitals; as well as our corporate partners Boehringer Ingelheim Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and OdysseyRe.

AmeriCares Free Clinics exemplify communities coming together to make a difference in the lives of our neighbors in need.

"The vision in my left eye is improving and I am following my doctor's orders. AmeriCares, you made such a difference. I could feel your care and compassion coming from your hearts."

Helster, a patient of AmeriCares Free Clinic in Bridgeport

Financial Information

AmeriCares strengthened our financial footing in Fiscal Year 2010 after weathering the economic downturn of 2009. We continued to fulfill our mission and vision by providing $850 million in medical assistance to 97 countries.

In Fiscal Year 2010 financial contributions grew nearly 100% from the previous fiscal year, reflecting our donors' generosity in an improving economy as well as the urgent, compelling need they saw during times of disaster, including the Haiti earthquake in January 2010. These donations from individuals, corporations and foundations helped us provide lifesaving aid around the world while building our reserves to a level suitable for our organization.

Product donations were equally significant to our work this year. We received donations of more than $750 million in critical medicines and medical supplies, with the number of individual corporate gifts increasing by 10% over the previous year. The value of donations was lower this year which was attributable to three exceptionally high valued, one-time donations received in 2009, as well as a mutual decision to wind down our participation in the International Trachoma Initiative over the course of Fiscal Years 2010 and 2011. AmeriCares gift-in-kind model remains sound with our continuing strong partnerships with pharmaceutical companies and medical supply manufacturers which have both the capacity and commitment to provide lifesaving assistance to people in need.

With sound financial underpinnings and committed financial and gift-in-kind donors, AmeriCares looks forward to the coming fiscal year with optimism. AmeriCares will continue in Fiscal Year 2011 — our 29th year delivering health and hope — to maximize every donation through our gift-in-kind model so we can help many more people live longer, healthier lives.

Sincerely,

Katherine A. Sears
Senior Vice President, Finance & Technology
AmeriCares Foundation

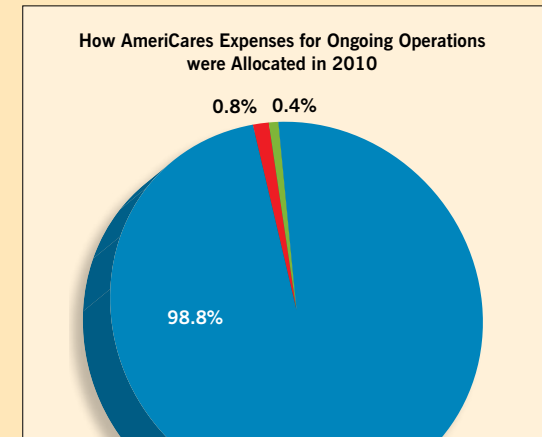

AmeriCares has a longstanding commitment to fiscal responsibility and has consistently received high ratings for our efficiency. These ratings reflect the fact that in Fiscal Year 2010, 98.8% of our total expenses directly supported programs and relief for people in need and 1.2% represented administrative costs.

Our Supporters

AMERICARES HELPED RESTORE HEALTH AND SAVE LIVES

in 97 countries this year. Our ability to respond to ongoing medical needs and emergency situations is only possible because of the support we receive from our many donors. When a disaster strikes, AmeriCares donors share their spirit of generosity. The tremendous outpouring of support from our corporate, foundation and individual donors helped AmeriCares raise over $15 million for our Haiti earthquake relief efforts alone.

Haiti is only one example of the difference we make in the lives of millions of people in need every year. AmeriCares is known for our disaster relief efforts and we embrace our expertise in helping save lives in those critical first days after a crisis. But AmeriCares is equally committed to supporting long-term rehabilitation efforts after a disaster and providing ongoing deliveries of medical aid. We fill critical shortages and supply our health care partners with medicines and medical supplies so many more people live longer, healthier lives.

There is much more work to be done; the need is unlimited and we are only bound by the resources we have on hand. Our many accomplishments are highlighted throughout the pages of this report and could not have been achieved without all of you. We thank you for your continued support of our mission and vision. We honor your philanthropy through our work every day.

Sources of Financial Support to AmeriCares in 2010

“AmeriCares saves lives by bringing medicine and medical supplies to people in need whether it’s following a disaster or due to daily struggle. Their commitment to help people in need is evident by their global presence and accessible services. Their gift-in-kind business model is a powerful investment: for every $1,000 donated, AmeriCares delivers more than $35,000 in aid. Few organizations can deliver this much impact per dollar invested.”

Muneer A. Satter

“Whole Foods Market customers and team members wanted to help during the earthquake in Haiti and we immediately thought of AmeriCares because of the work they do during disasters and the efficiency with which they do it. We are so proud to have worked with AmeriCares in helping the people in Haiti. Knowing that Whole Foods Market team members and customers made a difference in the lives of so many is something we will always remember.”

“AmeriCares does amazing work. What impressed me most about them is not only their immediate response to an emergency, like the earthquake in Haiti, but their long-term commitment to delivering lifesaving medicines to people in need around the world and right here in the U.S. I am so proud of the difference they are making every day in the lives of so many.”
